Happenings in the State

As To Carrying Guns

During the past five days several gun plays have been made in this city, but unfortunately no shooting occurred and no one was injured. In each of the instances neither of the wielders of the death dealing instrument had a permit to carry a weapon, neither was their business such that it required the making of a walking arsenal of themselves.

Excepting an officer or one who is compelled to travel at night through remote sections, the ordinary law-abiding citizen has about as much use for a gun in his pocket as has a dog with an extra tail. It has been demonstrated on more than one occasion that the average citizen who "tucks" a gun on the streets of a civilized community is either a moral and physical coward or is looking for trouble of some sort—has a chip on his shoulder, perhaps.

The law of Nevada is very stringent on the propositions of carrying concealed weapons and it should be enforced to the letter. Goldfield is composed of law-abiding and peace-loving citizens, generally speaking, but like every mining camp there are people here who are restless and uneasy and feel ill at ease when they are walking along the peaceful streets when they find that they have left their gun at home.

Get after these gentry, Mr. Officers and disarm them and then see to it that they are taken before the justice who will, without doubt, inflict the necessary penalty. The life of the decent citizen is too valuable to be snuffed out to suit the caprice of some incompetent and irresponsible rascals who carries a gun under the pretext of self protection.—Goldfield Sun.

Noted Mining Man Dead

Horace F. Brown, a noted mining engineer and inventor died in Chicago on the 15th of April. He erected the first quartz mill at Austin Lander county and subsequently spent some time on the Comstock in the mining and milling industries and was latter employed in Carson river mills and was the inventor of several milling processes now in use.

Pound to Open

The City Marshal has received orders from the City Trustees to impound all loose stock found on the streets of this city. From this date the Marshal will follow the law to the letter and all stock found upon the streets will be impounded and remain there until the owners pay the damages.

WM. KINNEY,
City Marshal

Boys Sells Liquor to Indian

As an example of the deplorable state of affairs existing in Gardnerville in the matter of drunken Indians a seven year old boy, whose name by of consideration for his parents, we have withheld, was caught while selling beer to a squaw. It has been carrying on a retail liquor business with the female members of the dusky tribe for some time. Thus the reason for the scarcity of the town jail for the scarcity of sober squaws during the last month and the inadequate capacity of the town jail comes to light. Previous to his disposing of the liquor to Indians the lad had often been sent to the saloons by his mother accompanied with a note and was therefore, legally entitled to the intoxicants.

This custom became common and the note was not always demanded which resulted in the above crime. He has been severely reprimanded by practice will be curtailed.—Record Courier.

University Programme

The following is tomorrow's programme at the University:

Sunday, May, 27, 10:30 a. m.—Baccalaureate services; sermon by Rev. Samuel Unsworth. Academic procession will form at 10:30 at Morrill hall in company with the veterans of the General O. M. Mitchell Post, No. 69 C. A. R., and the members of the General O. M. Mitchell Corps, No. 27.

Tented Cities Near, Moss

Albert Snitzer, proprietor of the Nevada brewery, returned from a trip to the Five Mile house on the Geiger grade wagon road yesterday and reports a tented city a short distance from there, principally occupied by prospectors from Washoe county and a four horse wagon load of supplies piled in from Reno yesterday. Recent developments at the Harris and Hill mines and Willow creek are responsible for the excitement.

Comstockers Get Big Assays

Dan McLeod and George Strasser, who have recently located several mining claims on the western slope of Mt Davidson, report assays from a four foot ledge on one claim shows from $10 to $50 per ton and a two-foot vein on another location carrying values of from $100 to $700 per ton. The locators say any person skeptical as to the foregoing statement is welcome to the samples of the ore, but the property is not for sale.

Lured From Home

Two young girls lured from Oakland Cal., were robbed and abandoned in Reno by one W. F. Bacon, who absconded.

Rushing in Supplies

The wagon road from Austin to Manhattan is swarming with heavy freighting teams freighting machinery and supplies to the latter place.
